

WILD HOWL IS HEARD FROM THE SOUTH

BORDERLAND MALIGNED IN THE EAST SO ADVOCATES OF THAT ROUTE LOUDLY ASSEVERATE

(From Sunday's Daily)

BISBEE, Jan. 30.—Reports, emanating probably from some of the rival transcontinental routes would have it that the Borderland is impassable and impracticable for automobile tourists to the Pacific coast. Nothing is farther from the truth as anyone along the Borderland Route will testify.

The matter came to the attention of the local people through a letter received yesterday from Harry Welch, Secretary of the Phoenix Chamber of Commerce. Welch enclosed a letter he had received from A. J. Stine, an officer of the First National Bank of Alva, Oklahoma.

In the enclosure Stine stated that reports, newspaper and otherwise, would lead the people of that section to believe that the Borderland Route was impracticable for automobile tourists to San Diego and Pacific coast points. He specified the cities of El Paso and Phoenix in his letter and added that a large number of the people from that section, desiring to go to the coast during the coming spring wanted to come via the Borderland.

Welch, in his answer to the Oklahoma man, stated that the route to the best of his knowledge and belief was in very passable shape.

Gray took the matter up immediately upon receipt of the letter from Phoenix. He wrote direct to the prospective tourist, a detailed letter of explanation of the route was given Stine. The bad spots in the road, as the good parts of the highway were carefully stated to the Oklahoma resident.

It is thought possible that the Old Trails organization disseminated the information through its branches that the recent rains, had in Southern Arizona, ruined the roads. Nothing could be more untrue.

It is true that in several places the Borderland was damaged. But it is untrue that it was hurt beyond repair. When the heavy waters subsided the state highway department and the various communities and counties through which the road passes immediately went to work on the road. This has placed the road in excellent shape again and no trouble is to be experienced along the route outside of the ordinary and to-be-expected griefs of the average motorists through any country.

MOVE TO EVADE PROHIBITION LAW IS FUTILE

(From Sunday's Daily)

The demurrer of City Collector J. E. Woods of Tucson, to the application for a writ of mandamus of C. J. Cunningham, a former saloonkeeper in that city, was sustained by Judge William F. Cooper.

Cunningham, who was proprietor of the Cabinet saloon, attempted to compel Woods to issue him a license to sell intoxicating liquors, and asked for a writ of mandamus for this purpose. Judge Cooper in his decision said:

"In view of all the circumstances and conditions surrounding the amendment now in question, I have no doubt whatever of the intent of the people when they passed this amendment. Considering the experience of other states and considering the experience of their own, they did not propose to leave this matter of prohibition to the uncertainties of legislative action, but did determine that whatever might or might not be done afterwards by the legislature, it should be unlawful to sell intoxicating liquors in this state after the first day of January, 1915. Hence the provision that the amendment 'should take effect on and be in force on and after the first day of January, 1915.' To conclude otherwise would be to absolutely defeat the will of the people so plainly expressed in this amendment."

A certified copy of this decision, sustaining the prohibition amendment will be used by Attorney General Wiley E. Jones in the argument of the appeal of Louis Gherna, also a former saloonkeeper of Tucson, which comes up in Supreme court on February 4th.

REVIVING OLD CAMP.

The reviving of the old Tombstone mines by Phelps, Dodge & Co., is going on, and among the plans is the installing of a large and modern reduction plant. Several mill men and carpenters of this city are preparing to leave in a short time for that camp.
